Form 2120 (Rev. August 1988)

Department of the Treasury—Internal Revenue Service

Multiple Support Declaration

OMB No. 1545-0071 Expires 6-30-91

Attachment Sequence No. 50

Instructions

Paperwork Reduction Act Notice.—We ask for this information to carry out the Internal Revenue Laws of the United States. We need it to ensure that taxpayers are complying with these laws and to allow us to figure and collect the right amount of tax. You are required to give us this information.

The estimated average time needed to complete this form, depending on individual circumstances, is 5 minutes. If you have comments concerning the accuracy of this time estimate or suggestions for making this form more simple, we would be happy to hear from you. You can write either IRS or the Office of Management and Budget at the addresses listed in the instructions of the tax return with which this form is filed.

Purpose.—When two or more persons together pay over 50% of a dependent's support, Form 2120 is used to allow one person to claim the dependent for tax purposes.

General Information.—To claim an exemption for a dependent, you must pay over 50% of the person's living expenses (support). However, sometimes no one person pays over 50%. Instead, two or more people do as a group. If each could have claimed the dependent but for the 50% support rule, then one person in the group can still claim the dependent.

All people who paid more than 10% of the support should decide who will claim the dependent. If you are chosen, you can claim the dependent if:

- you paid over 10% of the support, AND
- all others who paid over 10% agree not to claim the dependent.

How to File.—The people who agree not to claim the dependent do so by each signing Form 2120. They give the signed forms to the person who does claim the dependent.

If you are the one who claims the dependent, attach all Forms 2120 from the others to YOUR return. You must meet all of the other rules for claiming dependents. See Pub. 501, Exemptions, Standard Deduction, and Filing Information.